Mr. Lloyd W. Cornell, Jr.
Director of Financial Aid
Committee on Financial Aid
Brown University
Providence, Rhode Island 02912

Dear Lloyd:

Mr. Kirkpatrick is most appreciative of President Barnaby Keeney's invitation to address one of your University Convocations at the Wednesday noon hour on 14 April. He will need considerably more advice, however, as to the nature of the meeting, the audience, et cetera, but he knows these details will be forthcoming from President Keeney.

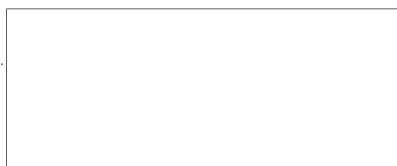

Since you indicated you would like to take advantage of Mr. Kirkpatrick's visit to have him meet also with a faculty group that afternoon or evening, he will be planning to remain with you through the Thursday breakfast hour.

STAT
It is my guess at this time, with the weather being what it should be then, that Mr. Kirkpatrick will want to drive his personal automobile to Providence. Chances are he will take with him another Agency person or two, but we can give you these details as the time for his presentation approaches. In any case, [] will join Mr. Kirkpatrick on this occasion, and he will arrive a day early to be of any possible assistance to you. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to telephone me collect regarding any information or guidance you may need from our end. I am enclosing a short biographical sketch of Mr. Kirkpatrick for whatever use you choose to make of it. I am assuming, of course, that for any gathering of six hundred students some publicity will have to be given the guest speaker.

Mr. Lloyd W. Cornell, Jr., Director of Financial Aid, Committee on Financial Aid, Brown University, Providence, Rhode

I hope your problem with your back is much relieved by now,
Lloyd, and that your doctor will soon find the key to nonrecurrence.
Thanking you and President Keeney again for keeping the Agency and its best interests in mind in this context, I remain,

Sincerely,

Chief, Personnel Recruitment Division
